

Scarcely one month before his assassination and just nine months after the death of the poet Robert Frost, President John F. Kennedy came to Amherst College to deliver a remarkable speech for the groundbreaking of the Robert Frost Memorial Library.

Kennedy spoke in striking terms of the relation of poetry to power, of the importance of the liberal arts to democratic citizenship and of the responsibility of higher education to serve the public good.

This film tells the story of the Frost-Kennedy relationship. It features the speech that the President gave in October 1963 and explores the profound effect it had on his listeners.

JOIN US FOR A SCREENING OF THE FILM,
ALONG WITH PANEL AND DISCUSSION

AT THE FSU GLOBE AUDITORIUM, 112 SOUTH WOODWARD
ON WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24TH FROM 5 TO 7 PM

Event jointly sponsored by -

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
CENTER FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS

For further information, contact Dr. Peter
Easton